SUBJECT: Symposium Topics for Consideration

1. What can be done to establish better rapport between work-level analysts and top-level supervisory personnel at NPIC? Could this problem be alleviated at all if the front office were to meet with all the members of each division in the auditorium once or twice a year for the airing of questions or problems and also the direct dissemination of information?
2. With trends now taking form in our workload, would it be possible to establish a means of planning weekend assignments earlier?
3. Establish a grade structure that gives recognition to the senior analyst's role in the PI analytical field. Promotion to levels now associated only with supervisory type positions is closed to the very capable PI whose main contribution directly is the preparation of photo-intelligence reports.
4. Teleprompter equipment emphasizes the $3\frac{1}{4}$ " x 4" lantern slide as the chief projection medium. This type of projector is generally available among intelligence units to the extent that the vu-graph has little further application.
